01

Flights.

How to book smarter, cheaper, and never overpay again.

The Incognito Lie

Airlines track you. Go invisible.

Every time you search a flight without incognito mode, the airline's algorithm records your interest. It then gradually inflates the price on your next visits — creating artificial urgency. Fix: Always search in private/incognito mode. Clear cookies before booking. Use a VPN and switch to the destination country — fares are often cheaper when bought 'locally'.

▮ PRO TIP

Use Google Flights for research (neutral pricing). Then go directly to the airline in incognito to book.

The 6-Week Rule

Book too early or too late and you lose.

European flights: optimal window is 4–6 weeks ahead. Intercontinental: 8–12 weeks. Booking 6 months ahead? Airlines haven't opened dynamic pricing — seats sit at rack rate. Set a Google Flights price alert the moment you decide on a destination. Let the algorithm work for you.

▮ PRO TIP

Tuesday/Wednesday departures are consistently 15–20% cheaper than Friday/Sunday. Adjust your schedule when possible.

2

The Ghost Airport

Same city. Half the price.

Frankfurt → Hahn. London → Luton, Stansted, Southend. Milan → Bergamo. Paris → Beauvais. Secondary airports fly the same destinations for 20–40% less. The 'inconvenience' of a 45-minute bus costs €5–€15. You're still €80 ahead. That's €100+/hour for sitting on a bus with wifi.

▮ PRO TIP

Google Flights 'Explore' feature lets you toggle nearby airports on. Turn it on. Always.

02

Airports.

Get through faster, eat better, and never pay for a lounge again.

The Lounge Pass Trick

Business comfort on economy money.

Day passes cost €30–€50. Many credit cards include free lounge access. Priority Pass covers 1,400+ lounges worldwide — included in certain Amex, Lufthansa Miles & More, and DKB cards. What you get: free food, open bar, showers, fast wifi, silence. What you'd spend at the gate: €14 sandwich, €6 Coke, zero dignity.

▮ PRO TIP

LoungeBuddy app shows exactly which lounges you have access to based on your credit cards. Takes 2 minutes to set up.

03

EU261.

The law that makes airlines pay you. Most passengers never use it.

Your €600 Secret

You're probably owed money from a past flight.

EU Regulation 261/2004: delayed 3+ hours, cancelled without 14 days' notice, denied boarding? Airlines owe you €250–€600. Per person. Cash. They count on your ignorance. You have 3–6 years to claim retroactively in most EU countries. Check every flight you've taken since 2020. Seriously.

▮ PRO TIP

Email the airline directly first (template in the appendix). They often pay without escalation. If they don't — AirHelp takes 25% but does all the work.
